EVERY ERA. ONE FEEL.

BDJ is a London selector and curator with an ear for the eclectic. His sets move fluidly across afrobeat, R&B and soul into hip hop, dancehall and house — blending eras, regions and tempos into one continuous feel rather than staying in a single lane.

It is curation as much as mixing: reading the room, threading unexpected records together and letting the energy build on its own terms. The result is a sound that travels — equally at home in a club, a festival tent, a fashion room or a private floor.
